THE LEADERSHIP KILLER

RECLAIMING HUMILITY IN AN AGE OF ARROGANCE

"In an age crying out for wise judgment and effective leadership, The Leadership Killer is an essential read."

E. Gordon Gee, President, West Virginia University

MEDIA CONTACT

Brandon Amico
Bright Planning
(603) 203-4946
brandon@brightplanning.com

OVERVIEW

WEBSITE
leadershipkiller.com

RELEASE DATES
Paperback & Ebook
October 30, 2018

AVAILABILITY
Amazon, Barnes & Noble, Indiebound, Books-A-Million

DETAILS

The Leadership Killer: Reclaiming Humility in an Age of Arrogance by Bill Treasurer and Capt. John R. Havlik
148 pp.
Paperback $15.95
Ebook $9.99
ISBN: 978-1948058131

Little Leaps Press, LLC

ENDORSEMENTS

WHAT LEADERS AROUND THE GLOBE ARE SAYING...

"With plenty of books written already on how to succeed as a leader, Bill Treasurer and John Havlik offer us something new and greatly needed - practical wisdom on how to survive leadership success."

  - John R. Ryan, President and CEO, Center for Creative Leadership, Vice Admiral, United States Navy (Retired)

"In a world where leadership seems to be about who is the loudest and most outlandish, Bill and John's new book, The Leadership Killer, reminds us that humility and integrity still is, and always will be, what matters most."

  - Mark Divine, United States Navy SEAL Commander (Retired), founder and CEO of SEALFIT, Inc., and Unbeatable, LLC, and the NYT bestselling author of The Way of the SEAL and Unbeatable Mind

"Leadership guru Bill Treasurer and former Navy SEAL CAPT John Havlik's book The Leadership Killer is short, entertaining, and an invaluable resource for leaders and wanna-be leaders."

  - Ambassador Kristie Kenney (Retired), former U.S. Ambassador to Thailand, the Philippines, and Ecuador

AUTHOR AVAILABILITY

Group Workshop | Keynote | Speaking Event | Appearance | Q&A Guest Article | Thought Leadership | Book Signing | Webinar | Podcast

THE LEADERSHIP KILLER

RECLAIMING HUMILITY IN AN AGE OF ARROGANCE

"This book is a useful tool in every leader's kitbag."

Randy Hetrick, Former Navy SEAL, Founder/CEO, TRX

THE AUTHORS

Bill Treasurer is the founder of Giant Leap Consulting and author of five books on courage and leadership, including the international bestseller, Courage Goes to Work. Giant Leap has led over 1,000 leadership programs across the world for clients that include NASA, Saks Fifth Avenue, UBS Bank, and eBay.
@BTreasurer
BillTreasurer.com

CAPT John "Coach" Havlik, U.S. Navy SEAL (Retired), led special operations teams around the world during his 31-year naval career, to include the Naval Special Warfare Development Group, the SEAL's most elite operational unit. CAPT Havlik was a nationally-ranked swimmer, and is a member of the West Virginia University Sports Hall of Fame and Mountaineer Legends Society.
@CoachHavlik
CoachHavlik.com

BOOK SUMMARY

BEING A GOOD LEADER DOESN'T REQUIRE BEING A BAD PERSON.

The Leadership Killer: Reclaiming Humility in an Age of Arrogance aims to help aspiring, early-stage, and experienced leaders alike answer a critical question:

"How will I use my leadership power?"

Co-authored by globally renowned author and executive development trainer Bill Treasurer and retired U.S. Navy SEAL Captain John Havlik, this book unites civilian and military experiences to explore precisely why some good leaders go bad, so you can avoid their mistakes. With decades worth of insight drawn from leading elite military special operations teams, global companies and organizations, The Leadership Killer includes insightful stories and actionable strategies for becoming, and more importantly, staying, a more effective, confident and humble leader.

The Leadership Killer: Reclaiming Humility in an Age of Arrogance exposes hubris as the single most lethal leadership flaw. Being a good leader doesn't require being a bad person, and if you know what to look out for, Treasurer and Havlik point out, you can keep your ego and hubris in check and become (and stay) a leader who is effective, successful, and good.